The Argus 2010

Monday 15th March 2010

The world's biggest timed cycling event celebrated its 33rd birthday in style with the debut of the world's most famous cyclist. Tim Skelding, Director of Cornwallis Elt, was joined by none other than Mr Lance Armstrong! This created even more hubbub to the frenzy that surrounds Cape Town's biggest annual event.

Gales of 50mph and headwinds for two-thirds of the way round put paid to any records for Tim and the other 35,000 competitors. However, not quite as successful as Lance, who came in 9th position, Tim improved on his previous position by just over 1,000 with a respectable 3755th.
