

Cornwallis team comes 6th overall in City Ski Championships in Courmayeur

Thursday 22nd March 2007

Led by Andy Johns, a Cornwallis team managed 6th place overall in the 2007 Swiss International City Ski Championships held in Courmayeur in the Italian Alps and sponsored by the Financial News.

Some 139 skiers and 24 teams took part in parallel slalom and world cup giant slalom events with competitors including Graham Bell, Damon Hill and Colin Jackson.

The event was won by Lloyds 1, followed by Accenture Mens A and Snow and Rock Teams. Cornwallis Elt Director Andy Johns (pictured below) managed a highly credible 30th position overall in the individual standings and an impressive 11th place in the Radar Trap fastest times.
